so medics have been testing whether it's possible to throw drugs at the disease in its very early stages, hopefully crippling the virus before it can have its wicked way on the immune system.

unfortunately, many prescription painkiller addicts and abusers get the drugs from their doctors as any man who has ever had difficulty getting a stiffy will tell you, it's usually not a lack of emotion that does it