because your fingers are moving, you can see between them for some of the time, and this enables our eyes to build a complete view of the image behind