a positive angle definitely strengthens our mind and body and improves the quality of our life every European eats ten kilograms a year of artificially irrigated greenhouse vegetables from southern Spain, with water shortages the result.