i simply wanted to write down a comment to say thanks to you for the remarkable ways you are writing on this website these viruses can replicate in the nose, but they cannot survive past the nose, meaning that they can't replicate in the human respiratory system, as the body is too warm for it to survive."